

THERE is a right way to paint and a wrong way. The right way is to have the best paint—Pure White Lead (see list of genuine brands) and Linseed Oil—applied by a practical painter. The wrong way is to get some mixture about which you know nothing and apply it yourself or have some inexperienced, irresponsible person do it.

FREE By using National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, any desired shade is readily obtained. Pamphlet giving valuable information and card showing samples of colors free; also cards showing pictures of twelve houses of different designs painted in various styles or combinations of shades forwarded upon application.

A MUSICIAN'S DRESS.

Never Little Given Worn by a Famous Violinist.

There is a Miss Jensen who gives delightful musical entertainments to the Four Hundred of the principal cities, and whose pretty toilets are as much a marvel to the feminine part of her audience as her playing.

DRESS FOR AMATEUR MUSICIAN.

At her latest concert she wore a dainty little taffeta gown of pale yellow, shot with white and dotted with tiny black specks of velvet. The waist was an extremely short bolero, pointed front and back, over a white embroidered mull vest, which in turn was set over yellow silk. The collar and girdle were of black satin.

The sleeves were very odd yet very simple. They were tight coat sleeves, trimmed with little silk ruffles gathered through the middle and sewed around and around the sleeve about four inches apart. This trimming gave fullness to the arm and lent a peculiar grace to the movements.

As the season is approaching for amateur musicians, a few hints upon proper and seasonable gowns for players to wear will be appreciated by many. The most popular colors are yellow and all the shades of amber.

PRINCE OF WALES GARTER.

A Clever Little Affair Worn by Girl Anglomaniacs.

American girls are the ones who delight in being "very English" in London. Regarding this it was once reported to have been said by Lord William Beresford that English girls would be English if they knew how; but, as it was, they only succeeded in being dowdy.

A VERY ENGLISH GARTER.

That is a decided extreme, but the most casual observer will notice that American girls have a "finish" which English girls do not. Take, for instance, so small an article of dress as the garter and you will see how it is turned and twisted, so to speak, and decorated and dressed until it becomes a really elegant little affair in the wardrobe of the American cousin.

An American girl who went to the queen's garden party—that now historic entertainment—wore a prince of Wales garter which was made for her by her modiste and sent home along with her dress. It was of pale blue silk elastic with white chiffon shirred over it. At the front there were three very tiny prince of Wales feathers caught under a gold buckle which consisted of a conventional true-lovers knot. Three tiny pearls studied the knot. The garter was a round one and was pulled on over the knee.

MRS. GREY-CANFIELD.
WOMAN'S LOVE.

Objective and Subjective It is a Very Interesting Study.

A woman came to the wise man.

"Out of thy wisdom teach me a secret," she said. "You see that I am beautiful, yet men admire without loving me. I wish to be loved—I would have men's hearts to burn at sight of me and break at parting. You know the secrets of the human soul. Teach me this one."

He looked earnestly at her for a moment and replied: "Make yourself unobtainable."

Hearing him, she lingered as if in deep thought, and then went in silence. When she came back she was grown older and her eyes were troubled.

"What cheer?" asked the wise man. "Barren your wisdom, for all the years it has taken you to acquire it," she answered, scornfully. "I say this who have heard your counsels and found them valueless."

"What! do not men love you?"

"Love me. Vain question. I tread not except on hearts."

"Was that not your desire?"

"To be unobtainable is to love not. The need of my life is not love, but to love. What weighs the love of a world of men if I cannot waste my heart on one of them? You know nothing of the science of hearts." And she went away disdainful.

The wise man bent to his scroll with a strange, inscrutable smile. Every woman that had ever been born had asked him the same question. Only one had not come back—one whose iron will had not dominated her heart, and she had died obeying him.—Munsey's Magazine.

Chills are a bad sign. Chills portend the oncoming of serious disease. They precede pneumonia, inflammation of the bowels, and many other dangerous diseases. They should never be neglected. Dr. Bell's Peppermint Chill Tonic cures them. It tastes like mint candy. All druggists guarantee it.

There is no use taking pills or purgatives to cure the chills. Dr. Bell's Peppermint Chill Tonic cures them by itself. It does more than that—gives you a new dress on the inside. It tones the system up and makes you strong. It makes you feel some account. Sold on a guarantee by all druggists.

Etiquette has nothing to do with the good form displayed by a bloomer girl.

Croup Quickly Cured.

Mountain Glen, Ark.—Our children were suffering with croup when we received a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It afforded almost instant relief.—F. A. THOMSON. This celebrated remedy is for sale by R. C. Hardwick.

What a happy world this would be if a man could only believe all he says.

A pain in the chest is nature's warning that pneumonia is threatened. Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind over the seat of pain, and another on the back between the shoulders, and prompt relief will follow. For sale by R. C. Hardwick.

The dude is very often the living picture of an unpaid tailor bill.

Those who believe chronic diarrhoea to be incurable should read what Mr. P. E. Grisham, of Gaars Mills, La., has to say on the subject, viz: "I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhoea ever since the war and have tried all kinds of medicines for it. At last I found a remedy that effected a cure and that was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy." This medicine can always be depended upon for colic, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhoea. It is pleasant to take and never fails to effect a cure. 25 and 50 cent sizes.

THE RIBBON SLEEVE.

Oddest Thing in the Way of Trimmings for the Shoulder.

It is a long time since evening waists were worn with only a ribbon strip for the shoulder, but that we are getting back to this old style is shown by the sleeves that are now coming in. One of these worn recently by Mrs. Frederick Gebhard consisted of three yards of black satin ribbon, which was crossed around the arm to make a very unique ribbon sleeve.

MRS. GEBHARD'S NEW SLEEVE.

This sleeve was made by sewing the ribbon to the armhole and tying it in a bow on the shoulder. Another piece of ribbon was then brought from the armhole across on top of the arm and carried underneath and brought around again to form a bracelet of ribbon. This was then firmly sewed in place, so that the ribbon sleeve, although it looked very frail, was as firm on the arm of the wearer as a sleeve of cloth.

This is done with ribbon of every color and with bands of folded satin. In fact, it may be called the accepted short sleeve of the season.

THE AFTERNOON WAIST.

New Bodice That Can Be Made Out of Odd Pieces of Silk.

Silk waists are so expensive and so short-lived that women will welcome the news that the new ones are to be of two kinds of silk. This means to the discerning woman that they will be little combination waists such as she can get up at home with the exercise of a little ingenuity.

A WAIST MADE AT HOME.

A woman who had a silk waist that was hopelessly slit under the arms and around the belt solved the problem of a new waist by cutting hers off around the neck, leaving a deep pointed yoke at front and back. This she edged with a ruffle made from the worn parts. She then procured a couple of yards of blue silk prettily flowered. Of this material she completed the waist, making a sort of blouse and half large sleeves, edging the latter with some of the old silk. The general tone of the waist was lilac, with the flowers in the new material of a deeper shade of the same color.

It may be news to know that more is coming in again, but the waves are only slightly wavy, giving it a sort of crepon effect and being more becoming to the figure than the old big waves.

He Couldn't Reh the House.

A burglar had entered a house as quietly as possible, but his shoes were not padded, and they made some noise. He had just reached the door of a bedroom when he heard some one moving within, as if about to get up, and he paused.

Then a woman's voice said: "If you don't take off your boots when you come into this house there's going to be trouble, and a lot of it! Here it's been raining for three hours, and you dare to tramp over my carpets with your muddy boots on! Go downstairs and take them off this minute!" He went downstairs without a word, but he did not take off his boots. Indeed, he went straight out into the night again, and the "pal" who was waiting for him saw a fear gladden in his eye. "I can't rub that house," he said; "it reminds me of home!"

The Woman and the Sphinx.

The mystery of womanhood is full of deep unanswerable enigmas. Why should women be compelled to suffer simply because they are women? Why is it that the source of their highest joys is at the same time the cause of their greatest wretchedness? The very attributes which make it possible for women to be happy wives and mothers also render them liable to the utmost physical misery and pain.

The sufferings of body and mind caused by some weakness of the distinctly feminine organs are so almost universal among women that the question might well be asked: "Is this Nature's punishment for the crime of being a woman?"

The true answer is No! These sufferings are neither natural nor necessary. They would not exist if the organism was healthy. No woman ought to endure such troubles. There is no need of it. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a perfect and positive cure for feminine weakness and disease.

It gives health and strength to the special organs and nerve-centres; heals inflammation; stops weakening drains; promotes functional regularity, and restores the normal, vigorous and painless condition which Nature intended.

It is the only medicine of its kind invented by an educated and experienced physician. It is the only medicine which makes baby's coming safe and comparatively painless.

Any woman who would like to know more about this medicine and about her own physical make-up should send at once stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., to pay the cost of mailing only on an absolutely free copy of his thousand-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," or, 31 stamps for cloth covered.

A sure and permanent cure for constipation is Dr. Pierce's Pellets. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, two a mild cathartic.

Two Millions a Year.

When people buy, try, and buy again, it means they're satisfied. The people of the United States are now buying Cascarella's Candy Cathartic at the rate of two million boxes a year and it will be three million before New Year's. It means we've proved that Cascarella's is the most delightful, bowel regulator for men, women and children. All druggists, 50c.
